

LS-001 / THE FRAMEWORK

The Four Movements

Each builds on the one before it. Together they form a complete arc from reading to building.

MOVEMENT 01

Asset Mapping

"Who has what?"

IN THE NOVEL

Catalogue the assets characters possess: social networks, knowledge, cultural practices, institutional access, economic resources.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Map the same categories using real data and lived experience. Census, public health, city databases.

MOVEMENT 02

Flow Analysis

"How do things move?"

IN THE NOVEL

Trace how resources flow between characters. Where is access granted or blocked? What mechanisms control distribution?

IN THE COMMUNITY

Overlay community data to understand circulation patterns. Where does money go? Where does trust break down?

MOVEMENT 03

Strategic Response

"What do you do with what you see?"

IN THE NOVEL

Identify what characters do (or fail to do) with their knowledge of the system. Where is there leverage?

IN THE COMMUNITY

Draft an intervention plan targeting the specific dynamics shaping young people's relationship to the issue.

MOVEMENT 04

Creative Restoration

"How do you rebuild?"

IN THE NOVEL

Characters find ways to sustain, build networks, and resist. The novel models what rebuilding looks like.

IN THE COMMUNITY

Design interventions rooted in community assets, culture, and knowledge. Make it specific, budgetable, testable.

ASSET MAPPING → FLOW ANALYSIS → STRATEGIC RESPONSE → CREATIVE RESTORATION

"The novel is not studied. It is used. The project that emerges is not inspired by the book. It is built from it."
